Rules to play

This is a game that can be enjoyed by all ages and requires no skill other than a steady hand and nerves of steel. A flat level surface is required.

1. Set up tower

The tower can be built up by stacking 3pcs blocks on each layer, make each layer cross over to the next layer.

2. The first player removes any one block from any layer except the top and place it on the top level of the tower.
3. The other players then take turns removing a block from any of the lower levels, and continue to place them on the top level. Once the top level has 3 blocks, go to the upper layer.
4. The game is over when a player's move causes the tower to fall over. If your tower topples before the next player touches a block, you lose the game! The player before your turn wins the game!

Note

- . Even if the tower is unstable after a player's turn, if it is still standing, the game is not over...yet!
- . Players can only use one hand at a time, you are not allowed to hold the tower with other hand while playing.
- . You are allowed to tap blocks to find loose blocks.
- . Stand at a safe distance from the tower when it is not your turn, to avoid being hit by the falling blocks.
